

CARPET & UPHOLSTERY CLEANERS

TYPES OF CARPET CLEANING

HOT WATER CHEMICAL EXTRACTION:

First of all we establish what type of carpet we are being asked to clean so that the correct chemicals can be used to get the best results.

A full and thorough industrial vacuum clean is the carried out to get any loose hair, grit, gravel and dust out of your carpets before any moisture is applied.

Detergent is then applied directly onto the carpet using a pump spray canister, paying particular attention to traffic lane or heavily used areas and taking care not to over spray any detergent.

The detergent is then left to absorb for 10 -15 minutes and is agitated into the carpet if necessary. Any persistent stains may need to be treated separately with appropriate cleaning products.

An extraction cleaning machine is then used to pass a rinse aid through the carpet. This removes the detergent and the dirt that the detergent has come into contact with, sucking it out with heated diluted chemicals leaving behind a sanitised, fresh smelling and dirt free carpet.

ROTARY SCRUB CLEANING METHOD

Rotary scrub carpet cleaning is a method that is ideal for offices, hotels, common ways and carpets that must dry quickly and cannot be wet cleaned (i.e. carpet tiles and some industrial and commercial carpets).

Rotary scrub cleaning is carried out by a brush rotating at high speed on the surface of the carpet while a cleaning solution is passed through the brush.

As the brush rotates, it cleans all sides of the carpet fibres, working up into a foam and lifting the dirt. Once the foam has dried it is simply vacuumed up.

STAIN GUARDING

Professional quality, odourless, fluoropolymer carpet protector which coats and protects fibres against water and oil based spillages. This product contains stain blocker additives for the removal of food colouring and dye based stains.

Stain guarding can be applied to new or freshly cleaned carpets and upholstery and will last for up to 18 months from the date of application.

"I have used Sure-Chem on several occasions to clean the carpets in my house and have always found them reliable and hard working and the results speak for themselves."
